

Environmental Inequality in Europe and Beyond:
Current Data and Results

22-23 September 2022

TU Kaiserslautern
Faculty of Social Sciences

Organized by

Dr. Felix Bader

Prof. Dr. Henning Best

Ingmar Ehler

Dr. Tobias Rüttenauer

Venue:

TU Kaiserslautern Campus
Erwin-Schrödinger-Straße
Building 13
Room 305
D-67663 Kaiserslautern

Funded by

DFG Deutsche
Forschungsgemeinschaft
German Research Foundation

Program

Thursday, September 22
10:30	Arrival
10:45-11:00	Welcome address
11:00-12:30	Forms and Patters of Environmental Inequality. An Overview Henning Best , Felix Bader
Session 1: Environmental Inequality in General	Residential Segregation and Environmental Inequality Across German Metropolitan Areas Christian König , Katja Salomo, Marcel Helbig
	Environmental Inequality in India Ingmar Ehler
12:30-13:30	Lunch break
13:30-15:00	Pathways to Environmental Inequality: How Traffic Noise Annoyance Varies Across Socioeconomic Subgroups Peter Preisendörfer , Heidi Bruderer Enzler, Andreas Diekmann, Jörg Hartmann, Karin Kurz, Ulf Liebe
Session 2: Class and Occupation	Environmental Justice, Energy Precariousness and Air Pollution: Lessons Learned from Emerging Studies Àlex Boso
	Staying Home in Times of Crisis: Effects of COVID-19 Pandemic and Fuel Price Shocks on Telework Decisions in Germany Claudia Schmiedeberg , Dominik Schober, Christiane Bozoyan
15:00-15:30	Coffee break
15:30-16:30	“Do you see where we live?” Patterns of Inequalities in Access to Services and Facilities in Romania – The Case of the Roma Minority Stefania Toma
Session 3: Minorities	Selective Mobility Contributes to Immigrants' Higher Exposure to Air Pollution. A Panel Analysis Spatially Linking Objective Air Quality Data and Micro-Level Survey Data for Germany Felix Bader , Henning Best, Ingmar Ehler, Tobias Rüttenauer
17:00-18:30	Poster Session
19:00-	Conference Dinner at panorama restaurant TwentyOne

Friday, September 23
	The 'Equigenic' Potential of Greenery in Compact Cities. Green Window Views and Residential Satisfaction Across Social Class Tetiana Dovbishchuk, Stefanie Kley
09:00-10:30 Session 4: Green Spaces	Urban Green Space and Life Satisfaction During the Corona Pandemic Martin Refisch, Jörg Hartmann, Karin Kurz The Role of Private Property of Green Spaces for the Impact of Green Spaces on Physical Activity. A Meta-Analysis Torvid Kreisler
10:30-11:00	Coffee break
11:00-12:00 Keynote	Environmental Inequality: Linking Research to Policy Paul Mohai, University of Michigan, School of Environment and Sustainability
12:00-13:00	Lunch break
	Portraits of Inequality-Climate Change Nexus: The Social Impacts of Drought and Water Scarcity in Southern Portugal Ana Rita Matias
13:00-14:30 Session 5: Draught and Heat	The Agency of Urban Residents in Coping With Heat: Exploring Individual Adaptive Capacity in Vienna Using Multiple Data Sources Antonia Schneider, Sebastian Seebauer, Thomas Thaler, Stephan Schwarzinger, Michael Friesenecker, Michael Getzner Extreme Temperatures, School Absences and Socioeconomic Inequalities Risto Conte Keivabu
14:30-15:00	Coffee break
	Best Practices for Building Capacity Within Environmental Justice Communities Joy Semien, Allen White
15:00-16:30 Session 6: Policy and Political Action	The Linkage of Research, Policy and Civic Society Activity in Addressing Environmental Justice Policy – The Case Study of Israel Carmit Lubanov Changing Inequalities? The Influence of Environmental Zoning Policies on the Unequal Distribution of Air Pollution in London Tobias Rüttenauer
16:30-	Farewell